Eight of the players from the inaugural 2020 NLJC have already committed to Power 5 schools.

The event is scheduled to have notable speakers including the NCAA, mental health experts, financial literacy and more. They will teach valuable life skills, ensure the student-athletes learn how to interview efficiently, learn what it is like to be recruited, go into team meetings, have a college replicated media day, practice in a college-like setting, conduct community service, and then play an elite football game that will be televised and sent to every college in the country for exposure. The staff will conduct an TYGTAL alumni panel with athletes currently playing in college and professional football programs. All coaching during the weekend will be received from NFL/NCAA experienced coaching staff. Each player will receive a verified and certified profile of academics, height, weight, hand size, and wingspan by TYGTAL Exposure (NCAA Compliant Scouting Service). All information including event footage to be shared with colleges and universities that have a subscription to TYGTAL Exposure. TYGTAL Exposure is a NCAA Certified Scouting Service, and all footage will be streamed live to their website, where coaches that are subscribed can watch the event live.
